WISHING EVERYONE A HAPPY EASTER WEEKEND

As we celebrate the joyous occasion of Easter, I want to take this opportunity to wish you all a very happy and blessed Easter. This day is a time for us to reflect on the renewal of life and the hope that it brings.

May this Easter season bring you peace, love, and happiness. May it be a time of renewal and new beginnings. Let us come together as a community to spread the message of love and compassion to those around us.

Let us also remember those who are less fortunate than us and make a conscious effort to extend our support and kindness to them. This is the true spirit of Easter – to reach out and make a positive impact on the lives of others.

This Easter, may you be blessed with joy, peace and goodness.

Happy Easter to you and your family.

BUDGET 2023-24: GROWTH THAT WORKS FOR EVERYONE

March 22, our government passed its 2023-24 Budget entitled “Growth That Works for Everyone.” Growth that works for everyone means everyone in Saskatchewan being able to access the health care they need when and where they need it. Saskatchewan’s overall health budget for 2023-24 is a record $6.9 billion, up 6.7 per cent from last year. This record investment will grow the health care workforce and enhance programs and services patients need in communities across the province.

To grow the health care workforce, the budget includes a $98.8 million investment in the Health Human Resources Action Plan. This plan was introduced in September of 2022 with a goal of adding 1,000 health care workers to our province’s system.

This budget will fulfill our government's commitment to add 250 new full-time positions and enhance additional part-time positions to full-time. To date, nearly 100 of these positions have been filled. We are creating a new Registered Nurse travel pool program to help mitigate temporary human resource pressures in rural and remote areas. In addition, Saskatchewan is creating a Physician Assistant program for the first time.

Our government is expanding health care training programs through this budget to help meet the health human resources needs of our growing province. The budget will support the continuation of a 150 seats expansion and 550 new seats in other high-priority training programs. Training and licensing supports for internationally trained health care professionals will be funded as well.

The provincial budget also ensures incentive programs for health care workers will continue. Health care workers in high-priority positions in rural and remote areas may be eligible for up to $50,000 with a three-year return-of-service agreement. Physicians in rural and remote areas are eligible for $200,000 over five years as well. These investments will support the recruitment and retention of these positions.

In addition to adding more health care professionals to the province, our government is investing in the health care services patients need. Mental health and addictions supports and services are a high-priority area for our government. That is why this year's budget includes a record $518 million for this area, which equals 7.5 per cent of the total health care budget.

To support those struggling with addiction, funding will support the completion of 150 new addictions treatment spaces. Investments will also go to the Saskatchewan Health Authority's Opioid Stewardship Program and the Saskatoon Tribal Council's mobile services. In addition, the Provincial Drug Task Force will continue its overdose outreach support and the Police and Crisis Team (PACT) will expand to two more locations in Saskatchewan.

Several initiatives will support children and youth, such as an expansion of the counselling program offered by Family Services Saskatchewan. In partnership with the Ministry of Social Services, three new residential homes will support youth struggling with mental health and addictions. The SHA will hire a new navigator in northwest Saskatchewan, a consultant nurse for psychiatry at the Jim Pattison Children's Hospital, and a therapist for the Saskatoon Children's Centre for children who witness or experience abuse. We will also invest in the Prenatal Outreach Resource Team (PORT). A new program which will provide grants to community-level peer support groups is funded through this budget as well.

With an investment of $42.5 million, we will perform an additional 6,000 surgeries this year for a record total of 103,000. This investment will reduce the surgical waitlist to its pre-pandemic level by March 2024, a year ahead of schedule. Funding will help address waitlists in cardio sciences and neurosciences, medical imaging, and endoscopy.

Seniors' care will be enhanced through a $39 million investment into long-term care providers and new long-term care beds. We will also hire 75 new continuing care assistants, who provide vital care to seniors living in long-term care facilities. Further investments will be made for home care services and geriatric services.

To ensure facilities are well-equipped to provide enhanced services, our government has made a record $337.6 million health care infrastructure investment. Work will continue on the Prince Albert Victoria Hospital redevelopment and Weyburn General Hospital replacement projects. Long-term care facility upgrades in Regina, Estevan, Grenfell and La Ronge are also included. Developing plans will begin for the Rosthern Hospital, Battlefords District Care Centre, and St. Anthony's Hospital in Esterhazy to better serve these communities.

In addition, this budget will provide funding for the Regina Urgent Care Centre (UCC) and the Saskatoon UCC in partnership with the Ahtahkoop Cree Nation. Once open, these facilities will be a more suitable option for treatment of ailments, injuries and mental health illnesses that are urgent but not life-threatening. This will alleviate pressure in emergency departments and improve access to care for patients.

This year's provincial budget provides the funding needed to strengthen and grow our health care system in communities across the province. With more health care workers, enhanced programs and services, and infrastructure investments, our health care system will continue to serv:

REMEMBERING DEREK MEYERS

Our Saskatchewan Party Caucus is mourning the loss of our friend and colleague Derek Meyers, MLA for Regina Walsh Acres. Derek passed away at the age of 45 after a battle with cancer.

Through all the challenges he faced, Derek remained one of the most upbeat and positive people you could ever meet.

Since his election in 2020, Derek has been a strong voice for his constituency and the city of Regina, a tireless advocate on behalf of everyone facing mental health challenges and a vital part of our government caucus. Derek had an incredibly bright vision for Saskatchewan, and as our government moves forward with plans laid out in this year's Budget, we will carry his memory with us.

We were blessed to have known Derek. We have lost a bright, talented, personable MLA and a young father far too soon.

On behalf of our government and our province, I want to express my deepest sympathies to Derek's many friends, his partner Laurie, and his children Dayn, Sebastian and Eisley.

$3.7 BILLION CAPITAL BUDGET IS THE LARGEST IN SASKATCHEWAN HISTORY

Budget 2023-24 is providing the biggest infrastructure investment in Saskatchewan's history - $3.7 billion in capital projects to meet the needs of people and communities across the province. This includes nearly $1.7 billion in capital projects across Executive government, and approximately $2.1 billion in capital projects by Saskatchewan's commercial Crown corporations.

"A growing province and economy require infrastructure that meets the needs of today and supports future development," Deputy Premier and Finance Minister Donna Harpauer said. "We are investing a record amount of more than $3.7 billion this year and are projecting nearly $15.2 billion more over the next four years, putting us firmly on track to meet our Growth Plan goal of investing $30 billion in infrastructure by 2030."

The funding agreement comes into effect immediately and will be in place until March 31, 2025. Alternative response officers provide an additional uniformed presence in the community and support Saskatoon Police Service investigations and enforcement activities.

"Government is proud to partner with the Saskatoon Police Service to fund these positions, which will enhance public safety and outreach in Saskatoon," Corrections, Policing and Public Safety Minister Christine Tell said. "Alternative response officers and other community safety officers represent an important evolution in modern policing and provide an excellent opportunity for those who want to make a difference in their community."

Budget 2023-24 includes the highest-ever total investment for mental health and addictions in Saskatchewan.

Totalling $518 million, this investment includes new funding for counselling and treatment services as well as support for Phase 2 of adding 150 addiction treatment spaces.

With the net cost to Saskatchewan families increasing by $410 this year, rising to $1,723 by 2030, the carbon tax is leaving you paying more than you will receive back in incentives.

If the federal government was looking for meaningful ways to reduce emissions, they should look to Saskatchewan and promote our high quality and sustainably produced food, fuel and fertilizer not just here in Canada, but around the world.

The guide is conveniently downloadable to your cell phone or tablet, making it possible to quickly reference the province's regulations, practices and catch limits. Physical copies will be available at Ministry of Environment field offices, most provincial park offices and select retail outlets in early May.

"Fishing is a time-honoured tradition in Saskatchewan and a great way to relax and reconnect with family and friends," Environment Minister Dana Skoropad said. "I strongly encourage anglers to review the guide before heading out, so they can fully enjoy casting a line in one of our many beautiful freshwater lakes or rivers this season."

Easter is a Christian festival and cultural holiday celebrating Jesus Christ's Resurrection on the third day after his crucifixion.

Easter is observed on the first Sunday following the first full moon after the spring equinox (March 21). Therefore, Easter can fall on any Sunday between March 22 and April 25. This year, Easter is celebrated on April 9. The Friday (Good Friday) preceding and the Monday following Easter are public holidays.

Eastern Orthodox churches use a slightly different calculation based on the Julian rather than the Gregorian calendar (13 days ahead of the former).

During this celebration, Christians travel to gather with the family. Traditional foods include lamb and Easter pastries like hot cross buns and simnel cakes.

In Canada, turkey or ham is usually served. Traditional customs also include an Egg hunt, a symbol of new life and rebirth. Parents hide the eggs for the children to find on Easter Sunday morning. The eggs are dyed or decorated; in the western world, they are made from plastic and filled with sweets or made of chocolate. In some traditions, the children put out their empty baskets for the Easter Bunny to fill while they sleep.

"Engaging students in conversations around their post-secondary experience will help us better understand what helps them to succeed," Advanced Education Minister Gordon Wyant said. "This student council will give us a platform to connect with students and gain valuable insights and perspectives."
